

Questions to Mo

WHILE listening to the interim government mouthpiece (the SWABC) in Katima Mulilo, I was shocked to hear what Minister Mo, the former Chairman of the Cabinet, terms 'important events' which took place during his chairmanship. He mentioned the following:

- ☐ Dr Franz-Josef Strauss' visit to Namibia as being important both nationally and internationally;
- ☐ the Cabinet's visit to Jonas Savimbi;
- ☐ the Supreme Court's decision on AG 8;
- ☐ the Oshakati bomb blast which claimed many lives;

Would anyone who is really serious about the Namibian issue term these events as important? Just what did Dr Strauss do to classify his visit as 'important?' His visit was as fruitless as the recent recent of the men in suits (one with a matching ostrich-skin briefcase and shoes). All these visits, instead of taking us a step forward to independence, have merely tried to blindfold us.

The Cabinet's visit to Jonas Savimbi was also futile. Just to fly in and out of a sovereign state without a passport and visa, and at the taxpayer's expense, is as useless as trying to walk against a wall.

And the Supreme Court's ruling on AG 8 was just as useless because there was Super Louis to resist it.

And what is so important about the Oshakati bomb blast to Minister Mo? Is this an 'important event' which took place during your chairmanship? I weep to hear a leader speaking that way.

The last thing Mo mentioned was himself and Mr Kozonguizi pushing a car on the way back from the airport when they accompanied the men in suits on their way back to South Africa. Just to push a skorokoro makes them feel great!

Come on, Mr Katjuongua, we know you are smart. Just put your brains where your people are and rid yourself and others of this puppet regime.

Just what makes you proud about all that, beats me!
