

Rumours are already going around that the DTA are taking names from graveyards; and what the intentions are, only they know.

I appeal to the United Nations to take care of those ballot boxes in order to rule out the possibility of any irregularities. Please ensure that the South Africans do not handle the boxes alone.

Pastor's prayers

AS A Christian and Lutheran Pastor I am deeply concerned with the Namibian cause. Through prayers and advocacy I hope I may in a small part help the fight for freedom for my black brothers and sisters in Christ.

Peace.

Mudge and Kaura

THE DTA Chairman Dirk Mudge, must clean his own house before he looks at those of others. We see DTA supporters 'on the loose' throughout the country destroying peace and unity among the people of Namibia. Dirk Mudge must realise that the acts of intimidation by his supporters will bring nothing good for the people of this country. Instead, it is sharpening antagonism rather than making room for reconciliation. We notice that the DTA has chosen to fight against Swapo rather than South Africa, which has occupied the country for many years.

Mudge has also been making accusations about atrocities in Swapo settlements, something he has no evidence of. Yet he and his supporters appear to have Koevoet at their disposal, who are the culprits as far as atrocities in Namibia are concerned. Mudge and Kaura are not happy to see a Namibian nation marching to freedom. They appear to be perpetrating tribalism and division among the people of this country.

A few weeks ago Kaura was interviewed on the BBC where he claimed that Swapo leaders were provoking his supporters and he warned about 'fights' which may erupt in Katutura. He also warned Swapo leaders that their safety may be jeopardised if such 'fights' break out.

The anti-Swapo propaganda being carried out by the DTA is the reverse of the truth. We have evidence that the DTA is doing the very things they accuse Swapo of.

Dirk Mudge and Kaura must realise that in Swapo, they are dealing with a movement which is politically mature. Swapo is not interested in bringing Namibians into conflict or the country into neo-colonialism, as the DTA is doing.

Mudge and Kaura must control their supporters not to provoke peaceful Swapo supporters any longer. Swapo supporters do not interfere with the affairs of other groups. Let us campaign peacefully for the elections without intimidating anyone. Mudge and Kaura must know what the consequences of civil war is - that is, if they have ready history. We in Namibia do not want such a situation here. Our people have suffered for too long and they need peace and freedom, which Swapo has and still stands for.
