

From A Country At Peace To A Country At War

THE Namibia I knew, is the one with a lesser crime rate, safer streets and homes. But that surely has changed and I fear for the future of the next generation.

What do you leave behind for your children? In a nutshell, a country identified by crime, marked by criminals, shadowed by house breakings and robberies, and eventually deaths. It all rest on our shoulders of mothers, fathers, politicians, churches, schools, government inter alia.

What can you do to prevent this from happening? The need for effective active action arises. We need to integrate, and work together as a society, put our differences aside and think about the children of tomorrow, or are you selfish or ignorant enough not to think of the children of today? We need to "act" before the shadow is cast over us all, and then there will be no tomorrow for us or the children.
