

Namibians for freedom

I READ YOUR newspaper with great interest. It is good to see that your staff take the problems of our country to heart and that you report on it. I therefore feel free to come to you with a great worry in my heart.

The past weeks I have heard over the radio that there are problems in Swapo. There seems to be tribalism and disunity because of people who want to participate in the peace talks.

It is not good for a strong organisation like Swapo to imprison people who want to talk. Swapo are losing a lot of support by that kind of action. Let the people come and talk, who don't want to be a part of Swapo anymore. Swapo will not lose but will only come out better and it will show a just organisation.

I feel that it is time to stand together and show the world that Namibians want real freedom. We must cast out the people who don't want the same as us.

I feel it is time for our leaders to come to Namibia so the people can see them again, because only a few know them anymore. This will make the people strong again.

Let us not listen to the stories anymore. Let us make our promises good.
