

Guise Of Anti-Terrorism

AMERICA has always presented herself not only as a superpower, whatever that means now, but also a moral power of some sort. However, any critical observer of the American governments and administrations, whether past or current, knows that their moral and ethical banks have been chronically bankrupt!

These are the very same people who are deceptively against terrorism and the use of weapons of mass destruction? Really, for how long will these people continue to delude themselves into believing that they can fool all the people all the time?

What are they doing to Afghanistan and the innocent Afghans is surely a crime against humanity!. But, who will punish this kind of modern and technologically advanced type of terrorism, when the whole world is told to either be against Bin Laden's alleged terrorism or for American terrorism!

This type of moral sickness is at the very heart of global instability and a serious threat to world peace. Incidentally Islam means (universal) peace.

If Muslims in the world get deceived by all the sweet talk of Bush, Blair and company that they are not involved in a crusade against Islam and Muslims, then they may wake up too late to realise that the Afghans will have been nuked to death, right in broad daylight. America has publicly confirmed that they have used the so-called tactical nuclear weapons.

In fact, what is meant by carpet bombing? What do you bomb for over a month in a country like Afghanistan? What else is left to bomb except civilian targets which they fancifully call collateral damage. In the meantime terrorists like Ariel Sharon continue to commit acts of genocide, with the generous assistance of America in Palestine. Isn't this clearcut moral bankruptcy and downright hypocrisy? America must just learn to recognise that that it has never been innocent of global terrorism itself. Terrorism is just evil, even when committed under the guise of anti-terrorism and under the American flag.

God Almighty tells us in the Holy Quran, "Fear them not, but fear Me" and Stand out firmly for justice and truth, no matter. Down with global terrorism!
