

Students

Students, some of which we use dictionaries, take time to publish edited comments because the quality

What's In A Name?

ALLOW me to space to talk about an issue which I think destroys Namibia's national unity and needs to be cleared.

It's 14 years after independence, which means 14 years of reconciliation and unity, but there are still a majority of Namibians referring to northern regions as Ovamboland.

This needs to be addressed and eradicated by our leaders with the powers that are invested in them through electing them to lead us in peace and unity.

Thanks to all the leaders for pondering my request.

D Kamba