

Student Has Eyes 'Opened'

I KNOW THAT I speak on behalf of the majority of students at the Windhoek College of Education when I completely distance myself now from the actions of Nasem, the DTA student's union, although I was also, at first, misled.

The reason they want to get rid of our good and fair Rector, is because Mr Mbudje is not a Herero and because he straightforwardly says NO when something is wrong. The other reason is because he stops the house committee from buying beer and wine every day and giving college money to their friends, misusing college funds and college vehicles.

I am enclosing a copy of the 1995 current account and savings account expenditure, from which you will see that beer and wine, unspecified goods and money to friends are the main expenses. I think the Government must appoint a Commission of Enquiry about this money, because it is taxpayers' money. Those guilty must be shown the door away from teaching and those who threatened to kill white teachers must also be stopped from becoming teachers.

It is disgraceful that a future teacher could make a sign like that and I hope that the police will discover who is guilty, although we all know where it comes from.

The time has come for us not be influenced by students with ethnic politics and dishonesty and rather to work hard to be successful and become great teachers.
