

really say who is loyal, less loyal and not loyal at all. Isn't it the so-don't need it. It seems and looks like we are preparing for a mili-

Concerned Swapo Man
Windhoek

Right Wing Afrikaners, Take Note!

I READ with shock and dismay in The Namibian of November 12 about the activities of the so called 'Boer nation warriors'. I want to express my views.

I do not know whether the "boerevolk krygers" elements are also present in Namibia, but if there are such members or those who are aspiring to such ideas, keep such ideas dormant infinitely. It is friendly advice.

I am very concerned about this terrorist movement causing havoc in South Africa with its resultant destruction and disregard for human life and property. This movement, although it has been in existence for years, has surely come at the wrong time. Those conservative, radical boers must know that they do not live in Utopia whereby they want to promote the ideology of Aryan nationalism. They must learn to live with diversity. We are all people of different colours and that we have to live side by side. No one is superior or inferior to the other. To be bad is not an inherent character, it is a learned habit due to the environment in which one is raised. Anyone can be bad.

Criminality is not confined to a specific race. No! It is part of human existence and under certain social circumstances and living conditions anyone is a potential criminal.

This reminds me of what Mr Hannes Smith (editor of Windhoek Observer) once wrote. I quote: "No man/woman is born a criminal. Criminals are made by conditions, environmental factors, to say nothing of social conditions". How true are those words from an open-minded person.

Those who are aiming to wipe out the black nation (in case of Soweto) must know that the black man can act in the same way. Does it sound inciteful or a threat to you? Maybe, but not to me. Together we can make or break this world.

Nine bombs in all were enough to take away many innocent lives.

When one's livelihood is threatened, you invent ways to counteract in order to protect yourself to survive. Let us live in peace rather than war. War is bad so let us avoid racial hatred since we did not choose who we are. Let us find lasting pragmatic solutions that would see us through to the next development level. Life was meant to be lived by all. No one has a patent on life.

Philip N Iwete
Luderitz